BLOOMINGTON, ILL.;

INTRODUCTORY.

Again we have the pleasure of presenting the citizens of Bloomingtou with a Directory which will favorably compare with former ones. The addition of the County Directory being a new feature.

Since the last Directory was issued, Bloomington, while laying claim to no "boom," has steadily increased in population. The number of names in this year's City Directory is 10,151, which, if multiplied by 2½. (the lowest factor used,) gives a population of 25,377, an increase of 1005, estimating Normal at 2,500, gives a total population of 27,877.

During the past year, many improvements have taken place. The erection of the new Odd Fellow's Hall, St. Mary's Church, Withers' Library, H. J. Higgins', J. R. Mason's, Harber, Ewins & Co.'s and Pantagraph buildings, improvements in building on north side of the square, and the extension of the street car track on the south side, being amongst the most prominent.

Thanking the citizens for their kindness and patrons for their favors.

Respectfully,

W. F. CURTIS.

Why not create a sinking fund of your surplus stock; exchange it for Western Land—the best property you can own. Often a thousand dollars of old stock put into a Western farm will make more clear money than will be realized on four times that amount of goods in the regular way, and it is safe.

I have some very choice farms which I am authorized to exchange for merchandise, ranging in value from $800 up. Please give this matter your early attention and write me, giving the value of stock you wish to exchange, and I will give you full description of a farm of about the same value.
